Central Fiction: Never At Night (2017)

Summary: Gantulga is a dead city - the stars should be visible. And yet they are not. The civilized vampires do not see well at night, and the city is far colder than it should be. It is a far, far colder than many people can imagine.

She walks the streets, dazed by her surroundings. She remembers well, and the monsters are her friends. Hiding in their cold embrace, she waits. Charming one, she tells you. And you will show no mercy. Her cool finality is a barb you know well. Lured by the crackle of ice in the darkness, she comes to the Red Priest. He reveals the storm that crept across the sky, and five roads chosen by fate's child.

The King of Cards is a card game similar to those played in Asia. While the rules are simple, the many different combination of high quality cards make it intriguing and interesting game for both novices and experienced players. Players start with their own hand of 30 cards, and are left to make their own outcome by using cards to form three different hands.
