One potential way to secure your data is to use data encryption software. These programs transform your documents and other information into encrypted formats that are nearly impossible to crack. Data encryption programs can be used in the cloud, online and offline, because they will work in any operating system, hardware and software. They can also be used on any type of device you use, from a mobile phone to a laptop. With that said, data encryption is not as simple as it sounds. It's not something you can use once and forget. It is important to keep data encryption programs updated. Some can automatically download and install updates while others will require that you do it manually. Data encryption programs are also versatile. There is no one-
